Preface to Second Edition

In presenting to the reading public this enlarged, illustrated edition of "WHATS NEXT," the author extends his heartfelt thanks to all Mystical Fraternities, Religious Organizations and Everyone who so kindly, directly and indirectly, contributed to its success.

Wonderful revelations have been gleaned from the Apocalypse and other Sacred Scriptures, and all of the mathematical data pertaining to the GREAT PYRAMID, as well as dates, both ancient and modern, are from the manuscript of D. Davidson, M.C., M.I.S.D.

As the title indicates, this work is concerned chiefly with the events which are to take place at once but on account of the limited space it has been only possible to give bare essentials.

The fact that all sources agree that the immediate future and the years to follow are exceedingly bright for all those looking forward to the dawn of the New Day, make me really happy. It is the purpose of "WHAT'S NEXT" to provide you with information that will assist you in quickly making the change from the old to the New Order and I shall be extremely gratified when all this has been accomplished in your life and affairs.

WHENEVER we let our minds wander to that ancient land of Egypt and its equally ancient inhabitants, who built a mighty civilization on the banks of the Nile, while the rest of the world was still in savagery; we begin to wonder about the magic, mystery and mysticism with which these people are always associated. The practice of magic — black, white and all the intermediate shades has always been synonymous with this ancient nation. Magic and mystery were so common that it had to be a very unusual "stunt" indeed to excite the slightest curiosity on the part of the Egyptians. It was a rare day when a stranger could perform a feat of magic which could not be equalled or exceeded by the Egyptian wonder-workers.

One day centuries ago, Moses, adopted son of Pharaoh's daughter was doing his best to create a forceful impression on a group of the Egyptian "clergy." Words themselves seemed to bear little weight with this obstinate group, and so Moses resorted to magic. He threw his six-foot walking stick crashing to the floor at their feet. Without a moment's hesitation it changed instantly into a squirming, shiny, bright-eyed snake. The Egyptian sorcerers were not at all stirred by this singular "stunt." "Tut, tut—that's nothing," scoffed the group in unison. No doubt they were lineal descendants of King Tut, himself. And, as if to back up their statement, they too, threw down their staffs, and every one of their sticks turned into a similar, wriggling serpent.

But in the end Moses won out. His snake, it seems, had not as yet eaten lunch, and so it moved quickly among the other snakes and swallowed each one in turn, much to the surprise and chagrin of the assembled Egyptians.

Egypt was always a land of eerie magic and much subtle mystery. But even in the midst of all these amazing occurrences, there existed in the border of the northern portion of Egypt a master-mystery that was so awe-inspiring that the Egyptians had been telling weird stories about it without successful contradiction. I speak now of the Pyramid of Gizeh—the GREAT PYRAMID.

Just what army of men constructed it, just when it was built, just why it was built, and for whom it was built—all were debatable questions in those days. This great imposing structure was old even when King Tut-ankh-Amen first saw the light of day. It is reputed to have been built away back before the Flood, about the year 3455 B.C. That would have been nearly 1500 years before King Tut-ankh-Amen's time. Today, there are those who feel that the "ground breaking" for the GREAT PYRAMID actually took place in the year 4,000 B.C. Others, with a mystical turn of mind, feel that the beginning of construction and its completion were all within the year of 4,000 B.C. Others place it anywhere from 2,200 B.C. to 2,600 B.C. In the year 1798 A.D., French soldiers were encamped about the base of the GREAT PYRAMID. Napoleon said to them, "Soldiers of France, forty centuries look down upon you." However, the age of the GREAT PYRAMID has nothing at all to do with its present-day significance.

Until only a very few decades ago, the GREAT PYRAMID was the tallest man-made structure in the whole world, and until Boulder Dam (Hoover Dam) was almost completed, the GREAT PYRAMID contained more masonry than any other project on earth.

This gigantic construction reached the height of 484 feet, and it is 760 feet square at the base. It covers a trifle more than 13 acres. You

"In that day shall there be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the land of Egypt, and a pillar at the border thereof to the Lord." "And it shall be for a Sign and for a Witness unto the Lord of Hosts in the land of Egypt."

Isaiah 19:19-20.

people who live in the city can obtain a fine picture of its towering height by comparing it with any 45 or 50 story building. Those of you who live in the suburbs on a 10-acre "ranch," stop and consider; it would require all of your land, plus an additional 3 acres of your neighbor's property, to accommodate the GREAT PYRAMID in your vicinity.

With the exception of two rooms (small in comparison with the size of the whole structure), and four or five long narrow passageways, the monument is one solid mass of stone.

The main part of the edifice is sandstone. The huge "bricks" average $2\frac{1}{2}$ tons in weight. Some of the larger ones are over six feet square; a few special ones are more than 30 feet long.

Nearly 2,300,000 of these ponderous stone blocks were required for the colossal undertaking. Sandstone, which was the principal stone used in construction, was quarried some ten miles distant, transported to the Nile, ferried across, lifted up the Western bank, moved over to the Pyramid site, and then elevated to the layer under construction. The final layers of stone had to be raised more than 500 feet above the level of the river!

All of these thousands upon thousands of stones were so accurately cut and placed that when they were set side by side or on top of one another, they fitted perfectly within one $\frac{5}{100}$ of an inch. The space left anywhere between them was so slight that the thin, sharp point of a knife blade could not pass between. There is no modern machinery extant which is capable of producing such accurate work. There is no method known to modern engineering that can produce such perfection in masonry on so large a scale.

Besides this, the builders cemented the stones together with a preparation so tenacious and eternal that some of the blocks have been known to shatter before this wonder cement would give away.

In finishing certain walls and floors of this vast structure's interior, granite was used. Limestone, quarried from nearly 700 miles up the Nile, was employed as a special outside covering. You see, when the Pyramid was first completed, the outside was a stair-step affair. The ingenious builders fitted limestone sections into these huge steps in such a manner that the exterior surface of the creation was completely smooth and slanting on all four sides, from the top right down to the base.

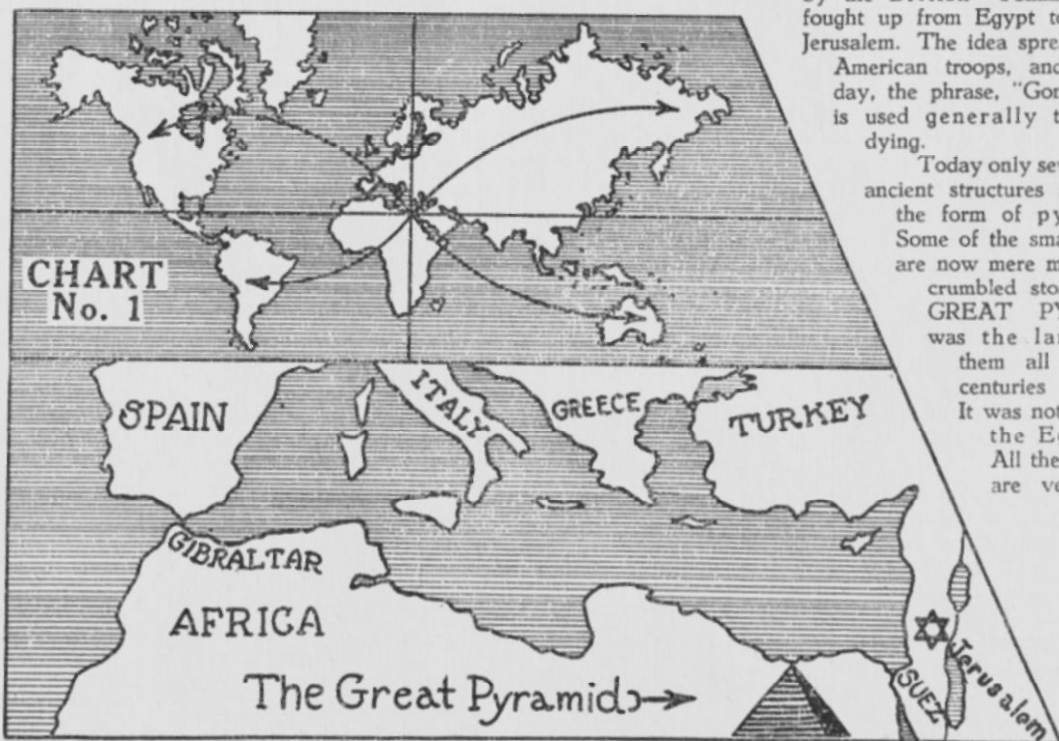

Little Pre-Flood boys, with a penchant for height and thrill, would make the long laborious climb up one of the four corners of the GREAT PYRAMID and slide down the unpolished sides from top to bottom in one "scoot." Little loin cloths were soon worn to shreds, and little posterior extremities were severely chastised by fond, though exasperated, mothers. What a relief for the boys when the builders decided on polishing the exterior surfaces of the GREAT PYRAMID with as high a polish as limestone could possibly take! Each side consisted of $5\frac{1}{2}$ acres of flat surface. The four sides totaled 22 acres. Think what a polishing job that was!

This magnificent monument glittered in the noon-day light, and in the afternoon, the reflection from the polished side facing the sun, gave the GREAT PYRAMID the appearance of being one solid mountain of gold. It was so bright and shining that the Egyptians called it "THE LIGHT" or "THE LIGHTS."

The Egyptian religion teaches that the Eternal Paradise is located to the west. Therefore, it became the custom to bury the dead in a westerly direction that they might be started on their way to the sacred region. We find that all 38 pyramids in Egypt were built on the west side of the Nile. Pharaohs and fish-wives, kings and knaves, were all buried on the west side of the river. During the World War, the Egyptian idea of death as "going west" was adopted by the British "Tommies" who fought up from Egypt to capture Jerusalem. The idea spread to the American troops, and to this day, the phrase, "Gone West" is used generally to denote dying.

Today only seven of the ancient structures still bear the form of pyramids. Some of the smaller ones are now mere mounds of crumbled stone. The GREAT PYRAMID was the largest of them all and by centuries the first. It was not built by the Egyptians. All the other 37 are very definately Egyptian and indicate the slipshod workmanship which is typical of them. There were no hieroglyphic carvings anywhere in the GREAT PYRAMID, while the walls of the other monuments are completely covered with characters and figures portraying the life and customs of the people.

There are a number of good reasons for believing that the GREAT PYRAMID was constructed previous to the Flood. The principal one is this:—At no time since the Flood has there existed a person or a group of people, not even in our present day, with all the vast, technical knowledge of engineering—possessing sufficient intellect, genius and wisdom, necessary to construct such an amazing edifice. Only a Being well-versed in a knowledge of modern science far exceeding the present could have supervised and constructed it. It would take thousands and thousands of pages to give a detailed explanation of the marvels it contained in mathematical and geometrical construction. Its values in weights and measures are marvelous. Its HISTORY OF THE PAST—ITS DELINEATION OF THE FUTURE—IS PRICELESS.

Time passes . . . the GREAT PYRAMID saw empires rise, wax mighty and fall before the merciless onslaught of the years. Generations lived, fought, and died—and returned to the dust. Great cataclysms ravaged the earth, but the GREAT PYRAMID still stood—unmoved—unchanged! Throughout millenniums of throbbing heat and fiercest storms, its white, glistening bulk towered above all man-made things. Like an immortal spirit, time had no effect upon it. Even the depredations of grave robbers and vandals were not able to deprive it of one iota of value.

It was an old Egyptian custom to bury the king's chariot, his implements of war, his raiment and personal belongings, his treasures of gold and silver, in the tomb with him. This was so that he might have the use of his possessions in the life after death. In as much as the Egyptian rulers possessed vast fortunes, the tombs became veritable treasure stores of immense value. Although it was well known by the Egyptians that the tombs contained great wealth, the idea of breaking into them was not even thought of. To violate the resting place of the dead was considered the most heinous crime. But to make doubly sure that their graves were undisturbed, the Pharaohs, through the priests of their ancient worship, spread the idea that a most dreadful curse would fall on those who were so rash as to attempt to break into the tombs.

Through the centuries of Egyptian splendor the fear of this curse was most effective in keeping the tombs inviolate. Jealously guarding their fabulous treasures, the pyramid tombs of these mighty rulers remained untouched for thousands of years. Tales were told of the terrible things which would befall the man who was so rash as to defy the curse which was the protector of the dead and his treasures. Stories are related concerning some who dared to desecrate the tombs in ancient times, tales of horror, which would indicate there was indeed some magic power operating to punish such depredations. In our modern times most of the ancient royal tombs have been opened and their treasures appropriated by explorers, adventurers and archeologists. Not even the royal mummies have been held sacred, rather they have been taken from their age-long resting places and placed on view in museums and side-shows, where the curious populace can gape in wonder, at the sight of these royal corpses of a by-gone day.

In spite of the fact that men of today are prone to scoff at the "superstitions" of the ancients, there are many incidents connected with the excavations in the "Valley of the Kings," which would tend to indicate that just such a thing as a curse might fall on those who violate Egyptian graves.

In recent years the world has been particularly interested in the discovery of that very ancient and very powerful young ruler, King Tut-ankh-Amen. After many years of searching explorers finally found the tomb of this king. His gold-encased mummy was found and shown to an amazed world, treasures of colossal intrinsic and artistic value became the property of modern "grave-robbers." However, these immense treasures were not gained without retribution. The series of misfortunes which followed the party engaged in this work are well known. Attacks of strange unknown fevers among the workmen continually halted or delayed the work of excavation. Dissension was constantly cropping up among the leaders of the expedition.

The crowning disaster connected with the project was the death of the head of the exploring party, from a supposedly trivial scratch which resulted in a fever which quickly brought death. Their troubles did not end when the work of exploring the tomb was completed. The surviving members of the expedition have been the victims of a continuous chain of misfortunes, death and illness, financial difficulties and many other attendant ills have continuously beset all who were associated with the ravishing of the tomb.

Of course, the less credulous of modern people will attribute the many misfortunes which befell these men to mere coincidence, rather than a curse of centuries ago. However, without being overly credulous or superstitious, the secrets of magic which were possessed by the priests of ancient Egypt may well cause us to wonder.

The Great Pyramid was built centuries before the first Egyptian Pyramid was even conceived. It was never intended for a tomb. No Egyptian curse, therefore, was ever placed upon it. It was built for the people of these last days so that they might know definitely the "beginning of the end."

In spite of the fear of this curse which hung over them, men became bold, and so in 820 A.D., we find Al Mamoun, Caliph of Bagdad (son of Haroun Al Raschid of "Arabian Nights" fame), much interested in what wealth or treasure the GREAT PYRAMID contained. And so he busied himself with the problem of entering it. He felt that it contained so much treasure that he could offer liberal rewards to those who would do the intense labor of cutting a passageway into, and through the solid stone. But since no outside passageway could be found leading inward to a tomb, Al Mamoun directed his men to go about 25 feet up the north side and start work. Promises of reward and the magic, mysterious spell of what the Pyramid contained kept the men well at work until they had tunnelled in many feet. But then, as there was not the slightest sign that the GREAT PYRAMID was anything but solid stone all the way through, the men finally began to despair and rebel. However, rich bribes and later threats of death, kept them going a little longer. At last, when the tunnel had been driven straight in for about 100 feet, the men made up their minds to cease action, regardless of what it might cost them. Just as the last hammer struck its last blow on a chisel, a stone of no small proportions was heard to fall beyond and a little to the right through the solid masonry where they were working. Work was renewed with frenzied activity. Thirty feet further in they broke into a passageway.

Once inside, they hurried through the long dark hallways with only crude torches to light their progress. They searched everywhere, but found not the slightest trace of treasure; not even the least sign of an Egyptian character on the walls and ceilings. But there was one more passageway. This ascended to the level of the Queen's Chamber and further on up to the King's Chamber.

Days of feverish searching brought them nothing, and to this day not one thing has been found in the entire Pyramid except the passageways and empty chambers. You can imagine how disappointing that was to Al Mamoun and his crew.

But there were treasures in great abundance, not only on the inside of the Pyramid, but on the outside as well. However, they were intellectual, geometrical and prophetic treasures. In all the world, at that time there was no one who could comprehend them. Only modern men, who are, in a way, closely related to Pre-Flood man, would be able to decipher and understand them.

The race which lived before the Flood undoubtedly consisted of intellectual giants who were highly learned in arts and sciences which have but recently become the property of modern men. The construction of the Pyramid reveals a deep understanding of the fundamentals of all branches of mathematics, and shows a knowledge of structural engineering principles which are considered the ultimate in technical advancement when used in the erection of the gigantic projects of our day. Through the study and research of many years we have acquired a vast amount of scientific knowledge, yet with all the great strides we have made we are able to comprehend only a part of the wisdom which was possessed by Pre-Flood men. If the rapid intellectual development of our day continues the near future should see the world acquiring a fuller understanding of the secrets of those mighty men whose skill is so marvelously embodied in the GREAT PYRAMID.

Says Worth Smith: "The Pyramid is constructed entirely of stone. In the language of symbolism, rock has always signified the Living God; and the Scriptures teach that the Word must be 'carved in stone' and 'stand in the rock forever.' Each of the different kinds of rock also carries its message; and in the further study of the GREAT PYRAMID it is well to bear in mind that sandstone represents things earthly; limestone, the human; and granite, the Divine."

The GREAT PYRAMID gives all the important dates from B.C. 4,000 to A.D. 2,000. It gives the birth of Christ as October 6, B.C. 4 (Julian Calendar), the Crucifixion as 12:50 P.M. Friday, April 7, A.D. 30 (Julian). It gives the exact date of the beginning and ending of the World War. It gives the date of the beginning and the end of the current depression.

The Inside of the Great Pyramid hieroglyphic or carving in all of its passageways and rooms.

Now the GREAT PYRAMID has only one resemblance to the other Pyramids, and that concerns passageways. It, too, has the one described above, the descending passageway (No. 2). It begins about 50 feet up the north side and runs slanting downward at an angle of 26°. It ends in "The Pit," nearly a hundred feet down in the earth, directly under the center of the Pyramid. The total length of this passageway is about 375 feet.

Unlike any of the other pyramids, the GREAT PYRAMID has two rooms within it. The Queen's Chamber (marked "D" in Chart No. 2) is directly in the center of the pyramid on the 25th level of masonry. It is 18 feet 10 inches in length, 17 feet 1 inch in width, and 15 feet 4 inches high.

Higher up, at the 50th tier of masonry, is the King's Chamber (marked "C" in Chart No. 2). As could be expected, it is considerably larger. It is 34 feet 4 inches in length, 17 feet 2 inches in width, and 19 feet 2 inches high.

Let us enter the GREAT PYRAMID again. We come down Passageway No. 2 for a distance of about 90 feet, and we find the Ascending Passageway (No. 1) running upward from that point for 128 feet 10 inches. This far along, Passageway No. 1 has been identical in size with Passageway No. 2—47½ inches high, 41½ inches wide. But at this point, while Passageway No. 1 retains exactly the same slope, the ceiling suddenly rises from 47½ inches to 28 feet in height. You can imagine what a relief it is. You have been coming up through this "low tunnel" all bent over. Now you can straighten up, and what a splendid feeling! Then you continue on up this Passageway for 156 feet 9 inches. Now you come to a three foot Step (Chart No. 4, marked 1844, A. D.) and then you find that your Passageway runs forward on the level. Now that would be all very fine, but at this moment, the roof of the Passageway drops down from 28 feet to only 43 inches just shortly beyond the top edge of the step. A person is forced to bend down lower than he did before because the level part of No. 1 tunnel is 4½ inches lower than the first part of No. 1 before it entered the Grand Gallery. Then, one needs only go 52 inches forward before the ceiling suddenly rises to 12 feet 8 inches in height. This new stretching place is 8 feet 10 inches long. This high vaulted place is called the "Ante-Chamber." Now we duck down once more as the ceiling drops again to 43 inches. We go forward again in the second low passageway for a distance of 8 feet 5.7 inches this time, and enter the King's Chamber. It is a great relief to be in a real room at last. The measurements of this chamber are:—length, 34 feet 4 inches; width, 17 feet 2 inches; height, 19 feet 2 inches. Its floor is on the 50th level of masonry. This room is located just beyond the center of the pyramid to the south. The walls are all beautifully polished granite. Again, there are no carvings on the walls, not even the slightest trace of one. If the Egyptians built it, they would never have passed up an opportunity like that. Nothing adorns the room except an empty coffer. It is hewn out of a solid piece of stone. The outside measurements are 7 feet 6 inches in length, 3 feet 3 inches in width, and 3 feet 3 inches in depth. There is no lid for the coffer. Part of one end is broken away. Imagine the intense disappointment of Al Mamoun's men and of the Caliph himself. This was the only object the Pyramid contained—as far as material things went.

Let us visit the Queen's Chamber. In order to do this, we must retrace our steps down the sloping passageway (No. 1) to the place where the ceiling first rose to 28 feet. This is the 25th level of masonry. Here we find Passageway No. 4, 47½ inches high and 41½ inches wide, running at a perfectly level plane directly forward. It runs forward and enters the Queen's Chamber. This room is not as large as the King's Chamber, but it is of good size, nevertheless. It is 18 feet 10 inches long, 17 feet 1 inch wide, while the sidewalls are 15 feet 4 inches high. Unlike the King's Chamber, the ceiling of the Queen's Chamber runs up from both sides to a line in the center like a roof. This highest point is 20 feet 5 inches. And there isn't a thing in the room, not even an empty casket.

The world is in the "Saturday Night" of time; it is due for a thorough cleansing. This takes place between September 16, 1936 and August 19-20, 1953. The severest judgments fall before 1940. No nation will escape them. Great Britain will be less affected than the rest of Europe. The United States will be affected still less.

Coming back to where we first entered Passageway No. 4, which leads to the Queen's Chamber—that is to where the ceiling suddenly rose to 28 feet, we find there another passageway leading almost vertically downward (No. 3, Chart 2). This is so large that we could easily fall down into it. The opening is known as "The Well"—Passageway No. 3. We lower ourselves down this jagged shaft until we come near the base of the GREAT PYRAMID. Here we find a small room, which is called "The Grotto" ("E," Chart 2). We continue down Passageway No. 3 which runs slanting downward in the same general direction as No. 2, joining it a short distance on the north side of "The Pit" (marked "F").

III

In Part Two we went into considerable detail regarding the passageways in the GREAT PYRAMID. This was because of their vast importance as a measure of time. The GREAT PYRAMID records SIX THOUSAND YEARS of time, and the epochal events during that entire period. But more particularly, those which have taken place in the past few years, and up to the end of the 6,000 years. As we are only interested in the immediate future, we shall give only sufficient of the highlights to preserve continuity.

The Meaning of the Principal Passageways of the Great Pyramid

Modern Man's "Six Day Cycle" started in the year 4,000 B.C. Sacred Scripture, the GREAT PYRAMID and the Christian Mystics all agree on this date. For our starting point draw a line down the outside of the GREAT PYRAMID (Chart No. 3), let it run far down into the ground. Next draw a line down Passageway No. 1 and run it down into the ground until it intersects the first line. (See Chart No. 3, Point "A"). Now this point where the two lines come together is known as the year 4,000 B.C. From this point (4,000 B.C.) on, and up to the "dotted date line," and up Passageway No. 1—EACH INCH REPRESENTS ONE YEAR.

Coming up the line (No. 1) from the year 4,000 B.C., our first important stop will be at the year 2644 B.C. This is the year in which some say the GREAT PYRAMID was either constructed or dedicated. Then we proceed up the line still further to the year 2345 B.C., and we find that the Great Flood occurred during that year. The "coming out of the earth" at 2020 B.C., the "Exodus" 1486 B.C.

Now it was during the period between points "B" and "D" in Chart 3 that the 10½ tribes were "lost." Don't fret, for we shall find them presently.

We now come up to the year 1 B.C. Of course, the following year would be A. D. 1. (See Passageway No. 1, Point "D"). At this point Christ is born. You will note that we are still in Passageway No. 1 but the ceiling has suddenly risen from a low passage of 47½ inches to 28 feet. Now we're going to be able to "stand up and stretch." This is the very first time in the history of mankind, that it has been able to do that.

At A.D. 33½, the Crucifixion, Death and Resurrection of Christ occur. This is very definitely marked in the Passageway. Here the Tribe of Judah, known as Jews, plus a half of the Tribe of Benjamin, give up the ancient Mosaic Law. They pass into another low passageway (No. 4). Time transports them toward the Queen's Chamber. The other 10½ tribes proceed up Passage No. 1.

They travel up the passageway marked "E," known as the "Grand Gallery." As mentioned previously, the ceiling is 28 feet high. The new Christian teachings indicate great liberty and possibilities. But the new Church is persecuted in all sorts of terrible ways and no one joins it unless he is 100% sincere. This persecution ends in the 4th century, A.D.

It is interesting to note that the "Base Board" on either side of this long passageway is perfectly sound and solid for nearly 400 inches, representing 400 years. But after that length of time this becomes porous and "rotten"! Of course, all along the path there is some solid stone, indicating that while the Church as an organization became very materialistic, certain individual members carried on, even more spiritually than ever, and so there never was a complete break in spirituality. About Luther's time there came a change for the better. This is well indicated in the base boards.

At last we come to the Great Step ("F") on January 26, 1844. Let us move Chart No. 4 where we have an enlargement of it. If you will recall, from the year 4,000 B.C. to 1844 A.D., the measuring unit was ONE INCH—ONE YEAR. There occurs a change at this point.

The Great Step is 36 inches high, but it doesn't happen to represent 36 years of time. Instead it stands for a "yard" of time. We find that this period of time ran from January 16, 1844 to August 2, 1909, A.D. During the particular vertical period, great changes took place. In mechanical, electrical and scientific worlds, tremendous strides were made. Education leapt ahead. A great spiritual uplift surged across the continents; new churches and new religious organizations were born.

Anywhere in the GREAT PYRAMID where the floor is level and the ceiling is low, spiritual stagnation is indicated. The Jews went into a period of spiritual stagnation in A.D. 33½ when they entered Passageway No. 4. The Gentiles entered theirs August 2, 1909, when they came to the crest of the Great Step marked "F." From this point on, to a point in 1915, the level floor indicates spiritual growth. The change which takes place in 1915 will be discussed further along under another heading.

The Grand Gallery terminates 61 inches beyond the edge of the Great Step. In this end wall is a Passageway (No. 5), 43 inches high and 42 inches wide, whose opening is on the same level with the step. The world entered this on August 4-5, 1914.

Over three thousand six hundred years ago in the Egyptian city of Memphis stood two obelisks more than 70 feet high. There are no two others just like them in all the world. To-day these twin monuments are found in Great Britain and the United States. One is on the banks of the Thames in London and the other in Central Park, New York City. They are known as "Cleopatra's Needles."

On that date Great Britain went into the World War. Other nations followed suit, and later the United States came in. From this time on, until November 11, 1918, the World War is fought with a hideous deadliness never before witnessed. Towards the end of the war, science was making such deadly strides that "unless those days were shortened, no flesh would have been saved."

During the World War there were certain students of the GREAT PYRAMID who knew that the 1-inch per year measurement of time had changed. They knew that from August 2, 1909 and on:—

ONE INCH REPRESENTED ONE MONTH

So they measured the first low passageway from end to end, and according to this new measurement, the war would end on November 11, 1918. You can imagine the doubt and also the excitement such knowledge would have caused in your own mind. The date neared and the fighting was still going on. Finally the eventful day arrived. All that forenoon in England those who knew of the "prophecies in stone" were waiting and watching for the first sign of peace. Suddenly, on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month—on the very day that the GREAT PYRAMID had recorded the event forty-six centuries (or more) previously, the greatest war of all time came to a sudden end.

You will notice now that on November 11, 1918, we entered the Ante-Chamber (Chart 4) with its high ceiling. It is 116 inches long, indicating that there would be no more wars for 116 months, or until May 29, 1928. Here in the United States we enjoyed prosperity, but on the 29th of May, 1928, Great Britain underwent the first throes of the Great International Depression. This corresponded to the entering of the second low passageway. As America didn't go into the World War until months after it started, so also, we did not enter the "Financial World War—Famine" until the next year—1929.

Students who had learned of the GREAT PYRAMID'S secrets before August 29, 1928, felt absolutely certain that Great Britain would go into another war on that date. But as no guns were fired and no hostile war clouds gathered between nations or toward Great Britain, students of the GREAT PYRAMID were perplexed and puzzled. But only for a short time. Soon they saw that the next World War was one of money-famine, instead of poisonous gas and high explosives.

In the World War of 1914-1918, only a comparatively small minority of earth inhabitants actually entered into active fighting. Those back home, who were making money faster than they could spend it were having the time of their lives. "War's not so bad," they asserted smugly, as they cashed huge pay or profit checks.

But the Second World War was far different. There was hardly a soul in the world who was not adversely affected. Great financiers found themselves penniless—and committed suicide. Great international commercial organizations with interests far back in remote jungles, began to feel the withering, searing effect of the Battle of Money—or possibly the Battle of the Lack of Money—and began to withdraw and retrench. Ebony savages who had never heard of Downing Street or Wall Street in their lives, suddenly discovered that the white man no longer cared to retain their services. They slipped away into the unending jungles and again "went native."

Missionaries who had worked faithfully beyond the outposts of civilization were forced to abandon their work and return home. Religious organizations were becoming bankrupt and could no longer afford to maintain them.

This malevolent "War" attacked rich and poor alike with equal devastation and lack of mercy. Helpless widows and orphans were turned into the streets. The sick and the old were shown no compassion or pity. And NOW, when will this terrible war end? When will this Famine of Pounds Sterling and Silver Dollars let up? That has been the universal question on all lips since the Depression began.

Let us turn to the GREAT PYRAMID for prophetic information. It has not erred one iota in 60 centuries; it should help us. Let us turn to Chart No. 4. We are still in the Second Low Passageway (which is between the Ante-Chamber and the King's Chamber). But at one inch per month, we should soon be through it. The supposition is correct. There are but a few more inches to go—only a few months left. The exact date, according to the GREAT PYRAMID, for the end of the International Depression is:—

SEPTEMBER 16, 1936

At that time—September 16, 1936—we will come out of the Second Low Passageway and into the King's Chamber. What a relief that will be! We are huddled up in a passageway only 43 inches high. We don't dare to attempt to stand up for fear of bumping our heads! But once we enter the King's Chamber, there will be a great abundance of room for everybody. It is much longer than the Queen's Chamber, more than 30 times larger than the Ante-Chamber. So if you think we had prosperity during the years of post war plenty—1918 to 1928—think of what we are going to experience once the human race actually realizes that it is out of the depression and in "tall clover."

Just what will bring about the end of the depression? Will the money-famine end because of another great war? Or will a world conflict start because the depression ends and furnishes the "sinews" for war? It is almost a case of the old question—"Which came first, the hen or the egg?"

The fact of the matter is:—the Depression served some very beneficial purposes. It accomplished its task and is removed from the scene by Divine Destiny.

As God promised Noah that there would never be another Flood, there is every indication that there is a Divine Promise—there will never be another depression for ISRAEL—Great Britain and the United States.

Now at the rate of 1 inch—1 month, we shall have crossed the King's Chamber by August 20, 1953. We feel that there will be no depression or even the slightest trace of one during the crossing, and as money loses its "value" during this period there can never be another depression.

Of course the 17 years spent in crossing the floor of the King's Chamber is much more than just

The stone upon which "Jacob rested his head" is now in Westminster Abbey. It is a part of the Coronation Chair on which the Kings of England are crowned. It was formerly kept in the Temple at Jerusalem and was brought to Ireland by Jeremiah. It was later taken to Scotland and then to England where it has been since 1296. The ancient Israelites called it the Covenant Stone. The Irish called it the Stone of Destiny.

relief from financial cares. It is a period of great readjustments. Here is what Worth Smith says about it:—

"The King's Chamber is termed, and is each and all of the following: 'The Chamber of the Field of Good Seed,' 'The Chamber of the Millennial Age,' 'The Chamber of Spirit Rebirth' and 'The Chamber of Immortality.' It is also the 'Chamber of the Mystery of the Open Tomb,' or 'The Chamber of the Grand Orient,' of Ancient Egyptian and Messianic prophecy, and therein symbolizes these wonderful things; 'The Hall of Judgment,' 'The Cleansing of the West,' 'The Presence of the Master of Death and the Grave,' 'Death is Swallowed in Light,' and 'God Lives Forevermore'."

From other parts of the GREAT PYRAMID there are thrown across the floor at different intervals, mathematical lines indicating very important changes, or should we say happenings.

On August 20, 1938, there will be started tremendous changes for the better. On the 3rd and 4th of March, 1945, we will be exactly half way across the King's Chamber—that means another big change. On February 18, 1946, another cycle ends and a new one starts.

The far wall of the King's Chamber is reached on the 20th of August, 1953, and what takes place after that is another story.

IV

Let us leave the GREAT PYRAMID for a moment and go back into family ancestry. Did you know that Abraham, Isaac and Jacob were not Jews? Did you know that Joseph and ten of his eleven brothers and his two sons—Ephraim and Manasseh—were not Jews? Only the descendants of the brother Judah were Jews; all the others were Josephites, Benjaminites, Reubenites, Levites, etc., etc.

Our Family Ancestry and our Connection with the Ten Lost Tribes

About the year 951 B.C., the Jacob family (Children of Jacob, whose name was changed to Israel, hence Children of Israel), had a nice generous family quarrel and there was a general splitting up of family ties and relations. Ten and one-half tribes went their way and the Tribe of Judah, plus a half of the Tribe of Benjamin, went in another direction. The half tribe became amalgamated with the Tribe of Judah so strongly that they finally lost their family identity, and eventually considered themselves Jews. But the ten tribes plus the other half of the Benjamin Tribe wandered the face of the globe in roving bands but at last found permanent resting and abiding places in other sections of the world.

In order to "discover" the 10½ "lost tribes" let us quote at length from Peter Sorensen's "Ancient Witness."

"In the 12th and 17th Chapters of Genesis, in the call of Abraham, the call was from God to man, not man to God. God made the contract, or covenant. It is written, 'I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great, and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.' 'I will establish My Covenant between Me and thee, and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant.' After Abraham's death, the promise was solemnly confirmed to his son, Isaac. And again, later, to Isaac's son, Jacob, when God changed Jacob's name to Israel, which means ruling with God. He said, 'A nation and a company of nations shall be of thee.'"

"So-called higher critics and agnostics have seized upon the assumption that the Jews were Israel, and pointed out that they are not a nation or a company of nations, and the promises were not fulfilled by God. The Church claims the promises were transferred to it. However, if you will search the Scriptures you will find that it declared that God will never cast off Israel, not even for all her sin, and that as long as the sun, moon, stars, heaven, earth, sea, day, and night continue, so shall the Covenant last, and that Israel shall never cease from being a nation before God forever.

"This being so, then that Nation and Company of Nations must be on earth today. We find that all the promises and prophecies concerning Israel have been and are being fulfilled by Great Britain, her Colonies, and the United States of America.

"Now, while the Jews are of Israel, they are not all Israel, and it is a common error to hear Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob referred to as "Jews." This is not so. Only the descendants of Judah—those coming after him—could be called by his name. Another mistake is saying that the Israelites were "Jews."

"The term "Jews" is never, in the Scriptures, applied to the Twelve Tribes, or to the Ten Tribed House of Israel. This term came after the split into two kingdoms, the House of Israel and the House of Judah.

"About five-sixths of the Scriptures are written to Israel. Every passage addressed by name to the House of Israel, is written to a human race, just as the passages written to Judah are addressed to literal men and women of Judah.

"We find the Israel migrations were before and after Christ's time, some direct to Britain and others beginning their long trek through Europe under various names; later coming in divisions to Britain as Goths, Angles, Saxons, Fresians, Danes, Jutes, Scots, and so forth.

"Now we will proceed with a few of the Israel identifications. Israel to be the Builders and Colonizers. This is not true of the Jew; he is the Commercializer. Israel is to be divorced from Mosaic law and lost to human history and knowledge, but known to God, recovenanted in Christ, to be his national evangelists to the world. The Jewish people have not fulfilled this Scripture.

"Who has translated the Scriptures in various languages and sent missionaries all over the world? Who has presented the Scriptures that are being sold by over ten million each year? None other than the Christian Israel, Britain and America.

"Israel was to be kind to strangers.

"King Alfred, one of Britain's greatest kings, decreed in one of his laws: 'Be ye kind to the stranger

As strange as it may seem, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob were not Jews. Jacob (Israel) had 12 sons none of whom were Jews. Only the descendants of Judah, the fourth son of Jacob, are Jews. Joseph, the eleventh son of Jacob, had two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh. They were half Egyptian. The elder son, Manasseh is represented to-day by the United States of America. Ephraim's descendants are the people of Great Britain.

within my gates, for ye yourselves were once strangers in Egypt.'

"Note also, Britain and America have always been havens for the persecuted. The wandering tribe of the remnant of Judah, the Jews, has never found a home free from persecution save with his brother, Israel. Whether you say United States, or Great Britain, or Modern Palestine, under the British mandate, Judah can only find peace with Israel. Note, also from the Hebrew, Britain means Covenant Land, and British means Covenant Man.

"Israel had nothing to do with the crucifixion, being at that time beyond the Euphrates, beginning their migrations through Europe. Josephus, the historian, will also tell you they were, at that time, a vast multitude beyond the Euphrates.

"Israel was to be a sea power and possess the gates of their enemies—these are the Panama Canal, Straits of Gibraltar, and the Suez Canal. These and other strategic points belong to Israel (Great Britain and America), but not to the Jews.

"Israel was to have a perpetual monarchy, and must have a descendant of King David reigning over them, which Britain has, the genealogy being traced from King David to David, Prince of Wales, the hundredth generation. This does not apply to the Jews. They have no kings on earth. The Jewish nation was broken beyond repair in A.D. 70.

"Israel to be God's battle-axe and weapons of war. And must be in possession of the land promised to Abraham and his seed forever. These lands are ruled by Britain today.

"One of the prophetic signs that was to indicate the beginning of the end of this dispensation, and which is indicated both in the Bible and the datings of the Pyramid, was fulfilled in 1917. Seven hundred years of Moslem supremacy in the Holy Land ended with General Allenby's modest entry into Jerusalem. Then arose the cry, 'The day of deliverance has come.'

"Here we have General Allenby reading the proclamation from David's Tower, ending Moslem Rule. Christians, as Israel, now rule the land of Christ, in fulfillment of this prophecy.

STONEHENGE

"A bit of evidence that helps to identify Israel in England, especially the branch known as the Shepherd Kings, is the fact that the wonderful Stone Circles of gigantic size standing for nearly four thousand years at Stonehenge, England, have, in part, the same astronomical significance as the GREAT PYRAMID. The design is such that they set forth astronomical values and the exact seasonal divisions of the year.

"Structures more or less similar are found all along the seaboard which parallels the line of ship commerce taken by the Danites on their voyages from Egypt to the British Isles.

THE CHURCH

"The Church in Britain was acknowledged, in the first three centuries, to take precedence over any other church in Christendom. The Four Church Councils, held during the Fourteenth Century, decided this.

"Britain introduced Christianity into Rome. The British National Church was founded A.D. 36—160 years before Rome confessed Christianity.

"In Westminster Abbey is the Coronation Chair, and in this chair is what is called 'Jacob's Stone,' which is never removed from the chair when used at a coronation. It is said to be the stone on which Jacob laid his head at Luz, and on which he received the Covenant. Jacob's Stone was kept most sacred and carried into Egypt, accompanying Israel in their wandering, and was eventually placed in the Temple, where it remained until the destruction of Jerusalem. Jeremiah brought it with him to Ireland. The Irish called it the Stone of Destiny. From that time on, first the Irish and then the Scotch, and now the British sovereigns have been crowned on this Covenant Stone. The rings used to carry it around are still there, almost worn through.

CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE

"Over three thousand six hundred years ago, when Joseph was in Egypt, where his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, were born, in the Egyptian city of Memphis, a few miles from where Cairo now stands, stood two obelisks in the public square in front of the Temple of On.

"There are no two others in the world just like them. Where are those obelisks today? We find one of them set up in our largest city, New York, in Central Park.

"The other stands on the Thames embankment in the great city of London, not only as a mark of the place of origin of Ephraim-Israel, but also of the brotherhood between the United States of America and Great Britain, offspring peoples of Joseph's two sons, born in Egypt before the Exodus."

V

In the fall of 1935 most of us learned for the first time of the existence of a reverse side of the Great Seal of the United States. At this time the government issued a new series of one dollar bills on which both sides of the seal were portrayed. Although the reverse seal was designed first it had never before been used and its appearance was a distinct surprise to many.

The Great Seal of the United States of America

Both seals definitely connect America with the past and every detail of them reveals a significance in relation to the destiny and origin of America, her people and ideals.

On July 4, 1776, the very day on which our nation was born, Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, and Thomas Jefferson made the first design, from which the seal as it is now known was perfected. In 1884 the present design of the seal was drawn.

The obverse side of the seal, with which we are quite familiar, shows an American eagle, wings, claws, and tail feathers outspread. On the breast of the bird is imposed a shield of red and white stripes with a field of blue above. The right talon grasps an olive branch, the left a number of arrows. In the beak is the motto, "E pluribus unum" (one out of many) and above the motto is a glory cloud with a group of stars in the center.

On his death bed Joseph divided his tribe between his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh. This added an additional tribe to the original 12 making a total of 13 tribes. Ephraim took his father's place as head of the eleventh tribe. Manasseh headed the thirteenth tribe of Israel. The key number of the United States is 13. The people of this nation are the descendants of the original thirteenth tribe.

The reverse, little known side, shows an unfinished pyramid of thirteen courses with the date 1776 in Roman numerals on the base. Above appears a triangle surrounded by a glory cloud, portraying the cap-stone, in the center of which is the all-seeing eye. The motto, "Annuit Coeptis," (He has favored our undertaking) is at the top, at the bottom is the motto, "Novus ordo seclorum," (a new order of the ages).

In view of the symbolical significance of every detail we may well wonder if the designers of the seal comprehended all that is indicated. We can only conclude that they created better than they knew. The hand of Divine Providence is evident to those who have informed themselves of the wonders revealed.

Students of symbolism, notably among the Freemasons and Rosicrucian Fraternities, have given us much light on the subject and have aided in giving us an understanding of the symbols and their portent to our nation.

Knowing, as we do, that the people of America are of the favored tribes of Israel (Ephraim and Manasseh), we see the peculiar significance of the symbols of the seal to this people. The prominence of the number 13 is especially evident and does much to link the present with the past and future.

Jacob or Israel had twelve sons, each of whom became the head of a tribe of Israel. At Joseph's death his tribe was divided between his two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, thus making 13 tribes in all. The people of America are chiefly of the tribe of Manasseh, which is the THIRTEENTH tribe. The connection between the 13th tribe of Israel and the American nation is plainly indicated in the symbols of the Great Seal.

The escutcheon on the breast of the eagle contains 13 stripes. The motto in his beak contains 13 letters. There are 13 arrows in one talon, and the olive branch in the other has 13 leaves and 13 berries. There are 13 stars in the cloud above the eagle.

The reverse of the seal also reveals the significance of the number 13. There are 13 courses in the pyramid, there are 13 letters in the motto, "Annuit Coeptis"; the nine letters in the date, MDCCLXXVI, and the seventeen letters in the motto, "Novus ordo seclorum," give a total of 39 letters, 3 times 13, on the reverse.

Throughout the history of the United States, the number 13 has been prominent. "76," used to designate the year in which the Declaration of Independence was signed, is composed of digits which add to 13. "July the Fourth" has 13 letters. The national bird, the "American Eagle" has 13 letters in its name. According to modern numerology, the numerical values of the motto, "In God We Trust," reduce to 13. Washington and 12 of his generals were Freemasons—13 again. There were 13 ships in our first navy. There were but eleven states in the Southern Confederacy, during the Civil War, yet there were 13 stars in their flag. It would seem that the hand of Destiny, through the mystical number 13, had unalterably linked the Southern States with the United States, thus foredooming their secession to failure. In the World War, the first expedition to France sailed on June 13, 1917, was carried in 13 ships and took 13 days to cross. Our president, Woodrow Wilson, had 13 letters in his name. Even in the creation of the Great Seal itself the mystic 13 is present. James Horton Whitehouse, who drew the final version of the seal, was the thirteenth person responsible for the formulation of the coat of arms. Thus we see the number, 13, is one of the most important keys to the symbolism of the Great Seal.

There has been some discussion in recent years as to the propriety of the use of the eagle as the national bird. It has been pointed out that the eagle is a bird of prey, which feeds on weaker creatures. This is true, but the real symbolism of the eagle to America has to do with much different qualities. The eagle is an ancient symbol of Spiritual vision. It was supposed to be the only creature which could look directly at the sun. Astrologically speaking, the United States comes under the zodiacal sign of Scorpio, with which the eagle is closely linked. The sign of Scorpio is said to rule the physical forces and functions of the human body, which must be controlled and re-directed, or sublimated, before the higher vision may be developed. Thus the eagle proclaims that spiritual vision is essential to true Americanism, and suggests the means by which that vision may be obtained.

The eagle is the only creature which rides the storm, using the force of the elements to rise ever higher, without effort on its part. In the same way has this nation used the storms of adversity to soar on to ever increasing greatness. Often circumstances have fortunately combined to permit the nation to move onward with little or no effort of its own; like the eagle, riding the storm, it has found in its perils a motive power to advance it ever nearer to its great destiny.

The olive branch in the eagle's right talon symbolizes peace. Its presence there is a radical departure from the symbolism of the old world. In the past it has been the custom to give the symbols of war the dominant position; our seal proclaims that the primary aim of the United States shall be to establish peace. Hence, the eagle is shown facing the olive branch.

The colors specified for the seal have a special significance also. Fortitude is represented by red, Temperance by white, and Justice and Prudence by the color blue. It is upon these virtues that the pattern of the New World Order Rests. With the presence of these attributes and the Guidance of Divine Providence, this nation will move on to the full fruition of its great destiny.

An exhaustive study could be made of the many messages revealed in the symbolism of the seal, but

The Great Seal of the United States has most prominently displayed above the eagle, the "Glory Cloud." This cloud guided and protected the Children of Israel in their wanderings through the wilderness. Through all the years of its history to the present day, the American nation has been guided and protected by the hand of Providence.

we shall be able to touch only a few of the more obvious and important ones.

According to the symbolism of numbers, the number 13 is associated with the idea of unity and love. The motto, "E pluribus unum," consisting of 13 letters, refers also to this idea. Many have a false conception of the significance of this motto, suggesting that it implies merely the rule of many or mob rule. The true interpretation is one which indicates a singleness of purpose and effort; a movement away from the multiplicity of diverse opinions toward the One source from which all things proceed. The arrows likewise symbolize this idea of aim toward the truth.

The reverse of the Great Seal is a marvelous symbolic statement of the essentials of true Americanism. The presence of the pyramid on the seal is of particular significance in itself, linking, as it does, this nation with the mysteries of ancient Egypt.

Until the creation of this nation the idea of human equality had been ignored. The Declaration of Independence proclaimed this idea to the world. The principle of equality is symbolized by the four equal sides of a square, the square is incorporated into the symbolism of the seal as the form of the base, and of each course of the pyramid. This equality is, of course, understood to be not necessarily of position or wealth, but equal right to opportunity and liberty. Inasmuch as the guidance of Providence is evident throughout our history, the words of St. Paul are quite applicable:—

"Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is Liberty."

The belief that this nation is under Divine Guidance is clearly expressed in the motto, "Annuit Cœptis," (He has prospered our undertaking).

The all-seeing eye, which appears above the unfinished pyramid is a symbol of Heavenly Wisdom, "which the sun, moon, and stars obey, and under whose watchful care, even comets perform their stupendous revolutions." We are also told that the vision of this Eye "pervades the inmost recesses of the heart, and rewards us according to our merits."

The date 1776 is placed on the bottom course of the pyramid and the 13 courses rise upon this date. According to Paul Foster Case, these 13 courses represent 13 time periods of 13 years each. We present his interpretation of these periods, quoted from his booklet, The Great Seal of the United States.

"The first course would include the Revolution (1776-1783); the establishment of the first daily newspaper, the "Advertiser," issued at Philadelphia in 1784; and the adoption of the Constitution in Convention (1787).

"The second course begins with 1789. This year marked the first Presidential election, and the establishment of the United States Supreme Court. During this cycle the first steamboat plied the Delaware River (1790), the United States Mint was established (1792), and Whitney invented the cotton-gin (1793).

"The fourth course covers the period from 1815 to 1827 inclusive. The most important governmental action of this period was the declaration of the Monroe Doctrine in 1823.

"The fifth course begins in 1828. In that year the first passenger railroad began running trains on July 4. The reaping machine, destined to make possible the granaries of the West was invented in 1834. In 1835 Morse invented the telegraph, and thus began the modern Age of Electricity.

"During the time-period represented by the sixth course (1841 to 1853 inclusive) Texas was annexed. In 1846 came the war with Mexico, resulting in the acquisition of the Territories of New Mexico, Arizona and California, completing the extension of the land surface of the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Gold was discovered in California in 1848, and this helped to open the West.

"The seventh course begins with 1854, the year Commodore Perry opened Japan to commerce. During this thirteen years the Atlantic Cable was laid (1857-1858), the Civil War was fought (1861-1865), and slavery was abolished (1863). In this period came the rise of the Republican Party, and the Presidency of Abraham Lincoln.

"The eighth cycle begins with 1867. It included the tragedy of Re-construction, and the development of big business. In 1869 the Pacific Railway was completed, the air-brake invented, and in September of that year came Wall Street's dreadful Black Friday. The first of the great expositions was held in Philadelphia in 1876. It definitely stressed the material rather than the spiritual progress of the nation. In this era the farm lands of the West were opened, and towards its close the farmers began to make themselves heard, and labor began to improve its conditions.

"During the ninth cycle, capital, by means of its control of the machine, and its alliance with corrupt politics, fastened its grip on the economic condition of the nation. Evil seed was sown during that period which still bears its poisonous fruit.

"The tenth cycle, beginning in 1893, was signalized by the opening of the World's Fair at Chicago; but this same year brought the worst panic the country had, until then, experienced. Labor troubles multiplied. The war with Spain began in 1898, during McKinley's Presidency. The election of McKinley was a victory for the East, for the predominance of the city over the country, and for the rule of industrialism. It was followed by a period of imperialism under McKinley and Roosevelt.

"The eleventh cycle was one of disaster. It opened with the San Francisco earthquake and fire. Then came the panic of 1907. A few years of deceptive peace followed. Then came the World War, which brought the eleventh cycle to a close.

"The twelfth cycle began in 1919. During it we reaped the fruit of the evil seed sown in the eighth, ninth, and tenth cycles. Troubles multiplied as never before. Organized crime aped the methods of big business, and the triumph of the city over the country brought as one of its consequences the development of great rings of gangsters. A dream of imaginary prosperity ended with the panic of 1929, and the remaining years of the twelfth cycle saw a progressive depression which continues until now.

From the year 1776 until a time close at hand America was and is under the protection of the "Glory Cloud." On the reverse of the seal we find America coming under the ever-guiding, All-Seeing Eye. The protection of Deity "afar off" is becoming that of Deity ever-present. Aspiration and growth is to be upward toward union with the All-Presence and ultimate perfection.

"In 1932 began the thirteenth cycle, corresponding to the uppermost of the unfinished pyramid. Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected to the Presidency. The various experiments now going on under the designation of the New Deal were begun. What their outcome will be, it is impossible at this writing to say. But whatever is before us in this cycle, which comes to its close in 1944, all intelligent persons are agreed (whether they are for the New Deal of Roosevelt or against it) that the Old Order, as represented by the political and economic opinions and practices of the eighth, ninth, and tenth cycles, must never be dominant in America again."

There is an interesting chain of coincidences connected with the presidency of the U.S.A. which may have some bearing on what we may expect in the future. Since the second president to die in office passed away, every fourth president of our nation has died in office.

The death of Zachary Taylor in 1850 started this interesting series of coincidences. After Taylor's death, Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan served their terms, Abraham Lincoln was the 4th and he was assassinated. Johnson, Grant and Hayes served their terms, Garfield was assassinated. Arthur, Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison lived and McKinley was murdered before his term was up. Theodore Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson lived through their terms and Harding died in office. If this chain of coincidences is to continue, the coming election may bring forth some interesting results.

If the present president is reelected he should live to serve his term. If a new president is elected he may die any time after his inauguration as he will be the fourth man to occupy the presidential chair since Harding, who died in office. If this happens the vice-president who assumes the office of president will be the 33rd man to hold this position.

The number 33 is the mystical number, the number of the fulfillment of destiny. In Freemasonry the 33rd degree is the ultimate degree toward which all members of the order strive. The number 33 marks the completion of a cycle. Under our 33rd president we may look to see many changes take place.

Under the above-mentioned circumstances (the election of a new president in 1936) we may look for these changes anytime after January, 1937, which is the inauguration date for the president who is elected in 1936. The selection of a vice-president assumes a new importance in this election as he is to be the man of destiny under the 33rd cycle. Of course if Roosevelt is reelected the changes to take place under the 33rd president will be deferred for four years as he will probably live out his full term if the coincidences of the past continue.

VI

In following the passages of the GREAT PYRAMID, we find that a time of great trouble and trial was indicated for the period between May 29, 1928 and September 16, 1936. During this time we were in the low passageway. September 16, 1936 (Chart No. 5) marks the emergence from this low, uncomfortable place into the lofty, spacious King's Chamber. On this date the world depression ends, and the new era of prosperity begins.

The End of the Depression and the Beginning of Age-Long Prosperity

Inasmuch as there is scarcely a person who has gone through the depression unaffected, a true appreciation of prosperity should be expected.

What particular event is to cause the ending of the depression and the return of prosperity, is not for us to say. Suffice it, prosperity will return, and such prosperity as has never been known before.

In the past, economic conditions have gone in cycles; a cycle of comparative prosperity, then an alternate cycle of depression. The period from the close of the World War to 1928 was one of prosperity. Everyone was prospering to a greater or lesser degree. Money was plentiful, credit was plentiful, prices and wages were soaring, the people were riding high on a wave of confidence and affluence.

Then came the crash! In 1928, in Great Britain, the bubble of prosperity, which had been growing larger and larger, suddenly burst. A year later the same thing happened in America. Prices dropped from the clouds—down, down, to rock bottom. The streams of money, which had been flowing so freely, froze up. Great business and financial concerns, which had been rearing vast structures of credit, collapsed in ruin. Millions were thrown out of employment.

On September 16, 1936 the entire world, especially America and Great Britain, will emerge from the Second Low Passageway and enter the spacious King's Chamber or Hall of Judgment. This marks the beginning of a new age of prosperity and freedom. What each individual does with his new liberty and new prosperity will very definitely determine his eternal future.

The spectre of hunger and privation stalked among the nations. Everywhere were heard the wailings of despair. Eight long years have dragged by, in which men have frantically searched for some means of relief from this miserable condition, but they have sought in vain. Though it is unknown to most men, no relief can come until the time of the prophecy is fulfilled—September 16.

Then the pall will be lifted, not because of any act on the part of man, but because the time which Destiny has decreed has arrived. Of course, there may be some event or act which will seem to be the cause of the new era of prosperity. Perhaps a new war, with its attendant stimulation of business, will be the apparent cause. Perhaps some marvelous new invention to revolutionize industry, or some basic change in the economic structure, will act as the medium by which the new age of plenty will be realized. Whatever the apparent cause may be, it will be but the instrument through which the will of Destiny is operating.

When we think of prosperous times we usually think of that period following the close of the World War. That period of frenzied finance and easy money seems to most of us to be the ultimate in prosperity. But, when we enter the new age, we shall enjoy plenty thirty times greater than that of this last period.

When the New Age is a reality, men will really know, for the first time, the meaning of prosperity. The world has been building for generations for the Golden Age, which is nearly upon us. Everything of a material nature, which will make for the ease and happiness of man is now ready, or will be, when we once enter that happy time. The marvels of science will present its gifts to mankind. The use of every conceivable labor-saving device will give man leisure for study and self-improvement.

Today we take for granted miracles of science and invention which a few years ago, were beyond the dreams of the most imaginative. Marvelous as the present inventions are, the possibilities have been scarcely touched. Great strides will be made in the fields of transportation and communication, compared to which our present methods will seem as the slow-plodding ox team to the automobile or the pony express to radio.

As man gradually acquires control of his mental resources he will find himself able, by use of these resources, to subjugate his physical self and transport his mental self to any part of the earth he may desire. He will also learn, through occult science, to project his thoughts where he will, thus placing himself in communication with whomsoever he may desire. This will be the eventual condition, but before that time, we shall see science introducing new marvels for the use of man.

The world of science has already progressed far beyond anything which we now know. Methods have already been perfected which would permit motor cars to travel many times the present distance on a gallon of petrol. Television is an accomplished fact. Many other inventions have been perfected but are being held back, supposedly by the great corporations which would stand to lose by their sudden introduction, actually by the hand of Destiny, until mankind is better prepared for their reception.

No man will remain untouched by the new wonders of invention. These marvels will pervade every field of living—from kitchens to kinetics—from bathtubs to battle planes.

Through the introduction of new anti-gravity processes, the heaviest metals will become weightless. Mammoth ocean liners will be moved around like a ball of fluff. Steel beams and huge machines can be transported with the utmost ease. This conquering of gravity will be accomplished by the action of certain electrical rays upon molecules of matter.

With the problem of weight disposed of, locomotive power will be revolutionized by a marvelous new invention — the "off-center gyroscope." This mechanism will propel all sorts of vehicles straight up and down or forward at what seems to us now, the tremendous speed of 1,000 miles per hour. It will permit vehicles to descend and rise in the most crowded centers of population with no difficulty.

It is well that we prepare ourselves to take advantage of the many wondrous things which science has in store for us when the time of Destiny arrives.

The new prosperity will not merely be prosperity for the few at the top. Every man will share in the abundance—but only according to his merit. Only he who puts forth a conscious effort on his own part will partake of the good things in store. However, the abundance—the opportunity will be present. It is for each individual to determine the degree in which he will prosper.

The DEPRESSION ENDS

After September 16, 1936, the GREAT PYRAMID indicates no further depressions for the tribes of Israel, especially Ephraim and Manasseh (Great Britain and the United States). This knowledge naturally brings forth many ideas as to how future depressions will be averted. There are myriads of plans being advanced every day which are claimed to be positive cures for economic ills.

Many people have looked to Communism, feeling it is the lesser of two evils. Some feel that if they must endure poverty, it is better to share it with all others, rather than to allow some to have plenty and others little or nothing. Now if we look at the course of mankind, as laid out in the GREAT PYRAMID, we will see why no such plan as that in effect in Russia, can ever be successful in Israel.

The theory on which Communism is based is exactly opposite from the theory of the GREAT PYRAMID. The Communist plan is a constant leveling down—placing everyone on the same low plane; allowing no man to rise above his neighbor. Under this plan, equality will never be reached because no two people possess the same ability or inclination to rise. The aim of the GREAT PYRAMID is to lift everyone to a continually higher level, but each according to his individual merit. No one will be held back because of his neighbor.

The plan by which prosperity will be assured has been given through inspiration. It will shortly go into effect and will eventually end depression for all time—in Israel.

We often hear some misguided person give what he thinks is a quotation from the Bible, "Money is the root of all evil." What the Bible really says is, "The love of money is the root of all evil," which is quite true, but entirely different from the other statement.

According to the delineations of the GREAT PYRAMID the new prosperity in the King's Chamber will eventually exceed the old prosperity of the Ante-Chamber by "30 times."

Now, the problem is and always has been:—How to abolish the love of money for itself and place money in its proper place as a medium of exchange? The new, inspired system does this very thing!

Under the New Order, no one will value money for its own sake, but all will regard it in its true light, as a means of obtaining goods and services. We can readily see what will happen when once the true regard for money is established.

Money will be kept in constant circulation, thus preventing the freezing up of the stream of finance. It is well known that this periodic "freezing up" is the real cause of financial depressions.

As money continues to circulate more and more freely, all men will profit in the ensuing prosperity, and will be lifted ever upward toward the ultimate ideal state.

Hoarders and misers will disappear. There will no longer be any advantage in hoarding—in fact, just the opposite. Under the new system we will experience a great decrease in crime, for the profit will be gone from it.

The new era of finance will bring to pass the fulfillment of other prophecies of the GREAT PYRAMID. The Jews, we know have but 17 years (1936 to 1953) in which to be back in Palestine. There are some 17,000,000 Jews scattered throughout the world, most of them are in America and Great Britain where they have always been well treated. Now what is going to "force" them back to their homeland within the short time left?

We are well aware of the Jew's love of money—for the Jewish People, generally speaking, money will purchase all that their hearts desire. Now when money no longer has any value of itself—when the mere possession of money will fail to give one any particular advantage—the Jews will be impelled to leave their present abodes and return to their own country, where they can set up a financial order, according to their own liking.

The remaining ten and one-half tribes of Israel will continue to prosper under the new system and will go on to ever greater, finer things.

Then will the time, foreseen by the prophet Joel, be at hand:—

"Be glad then, ye children of Zion, and rejoice in Jehovah your God: for he hath given you the former rain moderately, and he will cause to come down for you the former rain, and the latter rain in the first month, and the floors shall be full of wheat, and the vats shall overflow with wine and oil. And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpillar, and the palmerworm, my great army which I sent among you. And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of Jehovah, your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you; and my people shall never be ashamed. And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am Jehovah your God, and none else; and my people shall never be ashamed.

"And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and daughters shall prophesy, and your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions; and also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit. And I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth, blood, and fire, and pillars of smoke. The sun shall be turned into darkness, and the moon into blood, before the great and terrible day of Jehovah shall come. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call upon the name of Jehovah shall be delivered: for in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as Jehovah hath said, and in the remnant whom Jehovah shall call."

For centuries the Jews have been wanderers over the face of the earth. For generations it has been foretold that they would return, some day, to their native land of Palestine. Throughout the Scriptures, we find prophecies concerning this return. The GREAT PYRAMID also foretells this event. The time for fulfillment of these prophecies is now at hand.

The Return of the Jews to Their National Home — Palestine

According to the GREAT PYRAMID, all events of the New Dispensation must have taken place by 1953. By that time the Jews must be back in Palestine. This means that they have but 17 years in which to leave the nations through which they are scattered, and be back in the "promised land."

The GREAT PYRAMID traces the course of the world through 6,000 years, from 4,000 B.C. to 2,000 A.D. Considering the 6,000 years as the six days of man's time, the Jews have but ten seconds in which to get back to their own country! Ten seconds for 17,000,000 Jews, scattered throughout the world to assemble again in the land given to them thousands of years ago.

This great migration started immediately after the British forces under General Allenby took Jerusalem from the Turks in 1917. Palestine has been receiving back its ancient people by droves. From that time on the Jews have been returning in ever increasing numbers.

Many different causes have impelled the Jew to return. Some have an inborn desire to go back to the land of their fathers. These are the orthodox Jews of deep religious feeling, who look to the fulfillment of the promises made to their fathers of old. However, most of those who are returning, are doing so because of persecution or unfavorable conditions in the lands where they now reside.

The last few years of world unsettlement have seen increasing numbers of the tribe of Judah seeking the haven of the land of promise. Some of the nations of Europe, under imperialistic rule, have adopted a policy designed to drive out the Jews. Though these nations probably have no idea of it, they are but the instruments of Destiny working in the negative cycle, fulfilling the prophecies given thousands of years ago.

After September 16, 1936, when we enter the New Dispensation, we shall find the migration of the Jews greatly accelerated, as it must be if it is to be completed in the allotted time. One of the principle factors in hurrying the return of Judah will be the change in the financial system, which we have previously discussed.

Money will continue to exist as long as men and nations endure. However, money will cease to have any value except as a medium of exchange. Love of money will be abolished, hoarding will cease. Money will be kept in constant circulation thus preventing future depressions.

Already marvelous changes have been wrought in the Mandate of Palestine. The introduction of modern machinery and methods has greatly increased the productivity of the land. New blood and new incentives have made the people more industrious, until the products of Palestine have become a factor in World trade. There has been a decided increase in moisture, and the soil is becoming more fertile. We may truly look for the day when Palestine will again be a land flowing with milk and honey—all in accordance with prophecy.

Not only will the Jews return to dwell in Palestine, but they will again become an independent nation, having their own government and reestablishing all the ancient Jewish rites and customs.

Will the Jews in the United States return to Palestine? Because of the blood brotherhood existing between the tribe of Judah and the other tribes of Israel, the Jews have found refuge in great numbers in the United States and Great Britain. They have never known persecution in these countries; this is particularly true of the United States, in fact they have prospered greatly and have become among the high and powerful of these nations. It is natural that we should wonder if the Jew will want to leave a land where he is so well treated, but you may be sure he will leave—and that within the short time left. The prophecies will be fulfilled in this respect as surely as they will in any.

Because the Jew has until 1953 to complete his migration, there is no reason to suppose he must wait until then. At the rate that the Jews are leaving, it will probably not take more than half the allotted time, in fact, by 1940 the bulk of the Jewish people will be in Palestine.

The growth and development of the Jewish nation is quite evident. Merchant vessels are now sailing the seas, flying the flag with its ancient symbol—the six-pointed star, or Shield of David. We may look to see a Jewish army and navy in the near future. 1953 will see the prophecies fulfilled in every detail.

The activity of the Jews will be chiefly confined to their return to Palestine; however, happenings throughout the world will have much to do with the movements of the Jews. The wars which are to come, will be one of the contributing factors in the wish of the Jew to get back to Palestine.

The Jew's interests are largely commercial and he has no desire to engage in combat. When the wars of the prophecies come upon the nations, he will want to be out of the conflict and will leave the turmoil of battle for the safety of his homeland.

Preparations for these wars of the future have been going on ever since the close of the last war. Any day in the near future may see the outbreak of another terrible conflict. There may be, not only one war but many, several being waged at the same time in different parts of the world.

For centuries the nations of Europe have been laying up for themselves much evil karma which must be expiated before the new dispensation can be fully realized. This expiation, according to prophecy, will be accomplished through war and bloodshed.

These future wars, through which the nations must atone for their evil deeds, will be more terrible than anything the world has yet experienced. All the ingenuity of science will be used in the methods of warfare. The soldiers at the front will not be the only ones to suffer. Helpless women and children in peaceful towns and villages will be the victims of air raids in which bombs, containing poison gas and disease germs, as well as explosives, will be scattered over the countryside. These wars will be of short duration, but will be far more intense and deadly than those of the past.

Not all the nations must go through this expiation. Some have laid up more evil karma than others. Great Britain and the United States have less than the other nations. Because of their kinship through the house of Israel, we may expect to see these two nations always on the same side. These countries will never know defeat in war. This is because the people of these lands are of the blood of Ephraim and Manasseh, to whom the greater promises and blessings have been given. In fact, we have good reason to believe that the United States, at least, will never again have to endure the cleansing fire of war.

Most of the inhabitants of the United States have no desire for war and are constantly striving to see that peace is maintained. These high-minded spiritual ones will triumph and see that peace reigns in our nation—leaving it free to go on to the fulfillment of its promise.

VIII

This section will be of interest chiefly to members of the present-day or old-time church—regardless of the denomination to which they belong.

In this brief discussion I am going to be as gentle as possible. Remember, the harsher things, no doubt, apply to the other fellow's religion.

A Message to the Present-day Churches

There is much doubt in religious circles these days—perhaps I should say there is much more doubt than usual. This is due to the fact that many of the beliefs and doctrines of every denomination are being proved absolutely false. I don't mean that bigoted, goggle-eyed college professors are proving anything at all against the present-day or old-time beliefs; but some of the old-time "faith" is proving Comparing man's allotted "six days" to one hour on the clock dial, there are but ten seconds remaining for the "Judgment of Men and Nations." All of the Jewish people must be within the borders of Palestine before the "ten seconds" expire. The Jews in America will be the last to go.

itself so false that churchmen everywhere are beginning to wonder just how much of the "old-time religion" is true and how much of it is false; or rather, which of it is true, which false. This has aroused so much doubt and wonderment in all sects that they are all in a more or less chaotic condition. The individual members do not know where they stand. I am reminded of a little four-line verse I ran across a long time ago:—

"Wriggle in and wriggle out,
Leaving the people much in doubt;
Whether the snake that made the track
Was going east or coming back."

Vigorously though it may deny it, the old-time church was based not on love but on fear. It was a case of "be good or be damned." Strange as it may seem, some of the denominations, to this day, actually thrive on fear, superstition, bigotry, false pride, hatred, darkness. Now reason for yourself: in the new dispensation (which is already upon us) how long can these denominations weather the on-rushing torrents of fire? Listen, you searchers of the Scriptures, doesn't fire all through the New Testament, mean a cleansing, consuming process? A process that "utterly consumes root and branch" all that is evil? That is exactly what Divine Fire does. You know that there is going to be a tremendous cleansing not only in the world but in the religious world as well. All that is false or opposes the New Order is going to be burned and, don't forget, CONSUMED. There is going to be a lot of shouting in the "camp of the Saints"; not because the Saints are glory-struck, but because of the pain of the burning out process.

I really believe that the present-day church denominations are doing to be harder struck than any other organizations during the change of dispensations—from the old to new. Other, non-religious organizations do not have the force of fear to hold them together. When the purging fire starts to fall on them they will disband, or will quickly adjust themselves, as individuals, to the new conditions; but the present-day church denominations will cling more tenaciously than ever before when the real "fire starts to fall," after September 16, 1936. This is because they do not know the true from the false and naturally will be afraid to let go of anything.

Remember, all that is good and true in the old-time church, and there is much that is worthwhile; is to be retained, and he who attempts to destroy it will himself be destroyed.

The operations of the Invisible Church became especially manifest among mankind on December 5 of last year. On that date, for the truly religious man, started a new day, a new age, a golden dispensation that will never pass away.

The Invisible, All Pervading Church works from within. Those who search for it on the outside, in the world, will never find it. Between December 5, 1935 and September 16, 1936 is a most fortunate season for the individual who wishes to take himself in hand and start his renewal in Spirit, Mind, Body, and Substance.

Those who start at once to eliminate the things that pertain to the "present evil world" will be so far along on the Golden Path they will have nothing to fear when September 16, 1936 rolls around. They will continue to progress ever onward and upward, even though for a season they may be surrounded on every side by discord, war, pestilence and famine. Here is something you Church folks ought to know: For a short period beginning with the ministry of Christ and for less than four centuries after, there was some true Christianity in the world. The wainscoating of the GREAT PYRAMID shows that all but a Golden Thread of Christianity had died out by 400 A. D.. From that date on Church-anity began to wax mighty in an evil world, Church-anity took on all of the "sins of the flesh" and became exceedingly corrupt. About Luther's time there was a renewal, though slight, of true Christianity. At the same time Church-anity lost much of its previous power and has since been gradually on the wane.

The Golden Thread of true Christianity has never once been broken through the ages and it is now beginning to remanifest in a most marvelous way.

Church-anity operated through two opposites—"Bribe of Heaven" and "Fear of Hell." If the bribe of heaven, with everything they wanted after death, failed to make people good, then the idea of being "damned in Hell" usually brought results. It was an after-death affair—you either landed in Heaven or Hell after you passed from this sphere.

In the new dispensation, which is now upon us, Christianity expands and expands until it fills the whole earth. Nothing can stop it or retard its progress. It is an inner process which begins not in the present-day Church, nor in any organization, but in the center of the individual. From the center outward, filling the entire being. It functions through five departments of man's life:—Spiritual, Mental, Physical, Social, and Financial. It covers the entire field and it covers it here and now. It is an individual matter. Each individual either accepts it or he doesn't. If he accepts it he starts being renewed in all five departments of life right here, right now, or whenever he chooses to start. If he rejects it he starts on the downward path to destruction—self-destruction.

Entering into the King's Chamber, "The Judgement Hall", simply means that you will either judge yourself and proceed to submit to the consuming flames all that is untrue and in opposition to the new age, or you will be forced against your will, and this is what will really hurt.

Now here is how you proceed. Let the Spirit, which you have so closely confined in the prison of your spiritual realm all these years, out into your mind. Let this Spirit flood your mind, let it penetrate its dark recesses and utterly rout all the hideous and fearful things that you know are there. Do this at once and note the beginning of a marvelous improvement of mind that will continue on and on in its unfoldment until there is no more darkness in it. Your mind stands between your Spiritual Center—Divine Power Receiving Station—and your body. As long as your mind is in gross darkness with fear, superstition, malice, hatred, envy and worry, none of the Spirit can pass through it to fill and heal your body. The moment you can clear a little of the mind so that only some of the Spirit can pass through to the body—your body, regardless of the condition will start to mend. The only reason a Christian is ever sick or afflicted in mind or body is that he just doesn't let the Spirit of Life, Health, Youth and Perfection come through.

The five-pointed stars in the American emblem have a special significance. The upper point represents the Spiritual; the right point the Mental; left point the Physical; lower right point the Social and lower left the Financial. No human being can be a perfect "star" unless all five "points" of his life are equally developed.

For the average person, who has not been trained in "theology and doctrine" all this is very simple and he will get results in a very short time. You see he has an open mind, he has no preconceived ideas to first destroy. Jesus, speaking to the church folks of His day told them that the worst types of humanity would enter Heaven before them. Why would they? Because they had not erected a wall of theory, false belief, and tradition between themselves and Heaven. The moment they decided to make a change, they made it. The good church folks couldn't make a quick change because they would have to stop and ponder over the matter and decide whether it would be "scriptural" to do good. They would have to talk it over with the Reverend So and So, or the Doctor Somebody and get his opinion; which in most instances would be worse than their own, the result would be, they would continue to wander in the barren places instead of dwelling in a land flowing with milk and honey.

Already the vibrations from the King's Chamber are coming through so intensely that we can start our regeneration and rejuvenation now in every department of our life.

Let the Spirit pour out into your material affairs. Let it so abundantly fill your financial requirements that there is plenty on every side. Get the silly notion out of your head that wealth is "wicked."

Our Social life will be completely changed when the Spirit pours out into it. The craving for human entertainment because of inward emptiness will become a thing of the past when the Spirit fills the void. Divine Companionship will teach us what true fellowship really is. Do you realize that the reason that anyone is blue, morbid, or lonesome, is they are "empty" and "hungry". They are simply lacking in something that human beings can't give, they have not allowed the Spirit to flow in to the social side of their natures. But when it flows in there is a perfect feeling of peace combined with exuberance.

Those who start now to adjust themselves can expect a most joyous flow of Spirit into their mind. By that I mean you will begin to find it much easier to think. Don't assume that because of your age or who you are, that there is not going to be much thinking to be done, but the further you are on the Upward Path, the more joyous it will be. It is a great joy to see old men and women who have been in their second childhood for years begin to brighten up and become mentally alert again, and this is exactly what takes place, when the Spirit is allowed and instructed to cleanse, heal and fill the mind.

Love is the keynote of the New Age. Love is the greatest single factor in bringing order out of the chaos in which the world now dwells. Love can destroy hatred, malice and all evil. If you have filled your heart with love and will send it out to all men you will find great and marvelous changes manifest not only in yourself but in those to whom you send it.

The old-time religion was more or less a part-time religion. In the New Order we have the whole-time religion. In the past men died for their religion, in the new day men live for it. In the New Order, the religious man is power-filled, therefore powerful, quite a contrast to the old-order type.

In the old church, man's religion came into him from the outside. In the Invisible Church it starts at the every center of his being and works out, transforming him in every department of his life into the glorious being he should be.

With the growth of spiritual activity we may expect to see an increased desire on the part of those who have received the truth to spread the glad news to their less fortunate fellowmen.

During the 17 years while we are crossing the Judgement Hall (King's Chamber) great missionary activities will take place. Savages who have never before seen a white man will be contacted and enlightened.

All the modern methods of science and invention will be employed to spread the real Gospel. Radio, television, moving pictures, books, will all be used to preach the message of truth. With the aid of the new aerial navigation the remotest corners of the earth will be only a few hours from civilization. The new airships will be able to comfortably settle down in the heart of the jungle and missionary activities will proceed rapidly, with the airship used as a home base by the missionaries.

The new activities will dwarf all previous attempts to preach the Gospel. This will be the result of the fortunate conditions prevailing under the New Age. The chief difference between the new missionary work and the old will be in the type of missionaries who will be engaged in this work. No longer will we send sanctimonious, long-faced, doleful men out to the savages(?), but instead we will send out the New Man type who has made marvelous demonstrations in every department of his own life and from first-hand experience is able to tell his dusky brother how he too may make the great change.

No longer will our missionaries concern themselves with the teaching of fear-full religion, rather they will teach the powerful religion. The new missionary will concern himself primarily with the pouring of Divine Light into darkness and less with the "proper clothing" of black bodies. In other words, he will do the first thing first.

The New Day not only brings blessings and abundance to the white races, but through these races the "good news" will be carried to the "servant" races. Special messengers will go out to the remotest corners of the earth to spread Truth, Light and Life to all men.

Before true Christianity becomes operative in the hearts of all men there will be many who will harden their hearts and proceed to enter lives of crime. As a result there will be a great increase in crime, and criminals. In view of this crime increase the rapid perfection of the "Lie Detector" is of particular moment.

There are two types of lie detector now being used and scientists are rapidly bringing both types to a high degree of efficiency.

The one type of detector is an instrument which is fastened to the subject's arm in much the same manner as a blood pressure gauge. A dial indicator is connected to the instrument. When the subject is telling the truth there is only a slight quiver of the indicator. When he is not telling the truth there is a violent quivering of the needle. These quiverings are caused by the involuntary nervous reactions of the subject.

The other and more recent type is a drug which is administered to the subject. This drug stupifies the conscious mind but leaves the subconscious free to reveal whatever is desired by the questioner. Thus a witness in a court action when under the influence of this drug may reveal facts which were registered on his subconscious mind and of which he has no conscious knowledge.

The use of these perfected means of learning the truth will revolutionize courtroom procedure cutting short all the red tape with which our courts are now entangled. With this new sure way of learning the truth immediately, criminals will become wary and a great lessening in crime will be the eventual result.

Of course when the new age has reached its fullest perfection mechanical means will not be needed to determine the truth. Judges will only be chosen because of their high spiritual attainments and will be able through the use of mystical laws with which but few men are now acquainted to know immediately whether or not a man is guilty of a crime or whether a witness in a civil action is telling the truth.

DISEASE

The new dispensation into which we are now entering offers supreme happiness and enlightenment to those who are prepared to receive. But to many it portends misery and horror beyond the wildest imagining of man's brain.

The spread of disease will be so rapid and so far-flung that medical science will be helpless. Not only will the present known diseases affect the multitudes of the earth, but new and more loathsome ones will afflict mankind. Nothing so merciful as the plagues of the past, such as typhus and cholera, which wiped out entire populations in a few days, will be the lot of humanity.

When these new plagues descend to cast their withering blight upon mankind, scientists and medical practitioners will give up in despair. Doctors who have given lifetimes to the relief of human suffering, will stand baffled. Nothing will avail to stem the awful onslaught of disease.

Insane asylums and mad-houses will be filled to overflowing. There will be scarcely enough sane ones to care for the insane.

Then indeed will the earth be filled with lamentations—cries of grief and terror from the rational—howls of fiendish, maniacal frenzy from the madmen.

Only those whose deeds and aspirations are worthy will escape the horror of these plagues. He who has prepared himself through right living and thinking, will be spared. The ghastly afflictions will pass him by as the Destroying Angel passed over the houses of the Children of Israel in Egypt

CONVULSIONS AND CATAclysms

Those who have not yet allowed the light of truth and knowledge to pervade their consciousness and rout out all the darkness of fear and despair are going to suffer greatly in the time through which we are now passing. They who remain in ignorance and do not know the ways through which Destiny works will be utterly confused and confounded. Only he who has prepared himself can face without fear, the cataclysmic upheavals which are to come.

The prophecies make it quite clear that the new dispensation will be ushered in, not only with war, bloodshed and plagues of the flesh—gigantic disturbances of nature will have their part in the cleansing which must take place during the "Judgment of Man and Nations."

The last few years have brought many terrible disasters of every conceivable sort. Our own nation, which will escape the worst of cleansing, has been visited by more disasters of this kind than ever before in its history. Earthquakes occurring in widely separated sections of the country brought death to thousands. Not only in the regular "earthquake belts" but regions where such things had never before been expected have had terrific temblors. Devastating floods have swept over the country leaving death and destruction in their wake. Farms and villages have been wiped out and great cities have been inundated by the onrushing waters. Man's puny efforts have been unavailing in the face of the loosed floodgates of nature.

While some sections of the country are being ravaged by floods other parts are withering under the searing rays of the sun. Parching drouths have come upon us. Streams have dried up, crops and cattle have died for lack of water. The granaries of the nation have become blackened wastelands. Winds have swept over the parched lands lifting the soil in great swirls and scattering it broadside over vast areas—choking and strangling man and beast, blasting every living thing with a barrage of dust.

Cities and towns have been flattened by cyclones and tornadoes, crushing the inhabitants in the wreckage. Blizzards and snow storms have had a part in spreading death and terror among men.

All these terrible disasters are but forerunners of what is yet to come before the perfection of the new day is attained. More and deadlier cataclysms will occur before the evil of the world is expiated.

Fortunate is the man who knows what to expect. If he is wise he will start at once to judge himself, casting out all that is unworthy. Then when the forces of nature are loosed in all their fury against the world he will stand unafraid, unmoved, untouched. He will be as the man who built his house upon a rock "And the rain descended, and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell not: for it was founded upon a rock."

THE SECRET OF SILENCE

Here is a secret on how to realize the utmost from what you have learned concerning the new life in the new era which is now opening up before you: Don't dissipate your gains in idle talk. Naturally, as you learn to make use of the knowledge you have acquired, as you begin to see wonderful changes taking place within yourself, you will want to tell others about it. Don't do it, it is the surest way to lose all the advance you have made.

The Staff of Mercury consists of a staff or rod with two snakes twined about it. One white snake is "good" and the other black snake is evil. They are equally matched. Mankind has been dividing his time between climbing toward Diety by the "White Path" and at the same time "backsliding" toward chaos on the "Black Path." But the day has already arrived when mankind will leave the serpentine path of the "snakes" and will speedily ascend upward by the "straight and narrow way" the staff itself.

Conscientiously go forward in making your own life, see yourself being transformed into the perfect being which you wish to be, but say nothing—wait until you have reached that state where others notice the marvelous change in you—till they come to you to learn what has wrought this change. Then you may tell them. Do not say "Look what I have done for myself," rather tell them what they can do for themselves. Inspire them with the inward urge to go on and up in every phase of life. Tell them of the mighty forces for self-improvement which they have within their own beings. Tell them of the happiness and joy and success which may be theirs but never use your own self as an example, let them judge of that for themselves.

To go about talking of what you have achieved and what you expect to achieve is to leave the pressure valve open letting the vital power escape and waste.

BUY OR SELL?

The question is constantly asked, "If things are going to be so good after September 16, 1936, should not I do a lot of buying while prices are still low?"

The thought is extremely mercenary and belongs to the old regime. The old practices in the New Dispensation bring about unpleasant penalties. It would be better just to proceed along as you are from day to day, taking advantage of legitimate opportunities, in this way you will have no regrets.

Those of you who are trying so hard now to dispose of your properties and possessions; Don't you think that you could wait a little longer, at least until after September 16th? It seems a shame to dispose now of possessions that you have held so long when within a very short time after the above mentioned date they may become very valuable. Remember the old saying, "When you don't know what to do, do nothing."

THE QUEEN'S CHAMBER AND THE JEWS

The Jews came to the wall of the Queen's Chamber January 18, 1918. Since that date they have had considerable liberty and many individual Jews have broken away from the old faith and accepted the new, or in many cases no faith at all. This is especially true in the United States and Great Britain.

The Jews, as a nation, are going back to Palestine to become a nation in their own land, wholly within their own borders. Many Jews, as individuals, will not return to the "Promised Land." Those who separate from Judah as did the 10½ tribes centuries ago, simply throw in their lot with the other 10½ tribes of Israel and will remain in the countries in which they now reside.

The Jewish nation as well as individual Jews will never accept Church-anity, but the new, true, real, dynamic and all powerful Christianity will be accepted by individual Jews everywhere; this is already going on right now. Eventually the whole Jewish nation will accept the true Christianity. It will be done suddenly in "a day" as it is recorded.

The idea that all Jews are going to leave for Palestine on September 17, 1936 (the next day after the depression ends, as advanced by some prophets (?) is untrue. The great majority, it is indicated, will be at home in Palestine within a comparatively short time after that date. But they will certainly not return faster than ships can carry them back, nor any faster than they can be accommodated in Jerusalem and Palestine.

Regardless of one's religious belief (or lack of belief) it is a very fortunate thing to be domiciled at the present time within the borders of the United States or Great Britain. Foreigners residing in America at the present time should consider themselves exceptionally "elect" and exert every legitimate means for remaining here permanently.

IX

During the course of our study we have found that the number 13 has a particular significance to the United States because its people are chiefly of the tribe of Manasseh which is the 13th tribe of Israel.

On the reverse of the Great Seal of the United States is shown an unfinished pyramid of 13 courses. Each course, or layer is composed of many individual stones. Between the last layer of the pyramid and triangle around about the All-Seeing Eye, which forms the perfect apex, is a space which is yet to be filled in, if the pyramid it to be complete.

The thirteen layers of stone are complete, (page 22). No more stones or layers can be added to the mass as it now stands. How then is this vacant space to be filled? How is the pyramid to be complete that it may become a perfect living thing? This can be done only by the expansion of the already existing stones. Of course, you ask, can a stone expand?

Each stone in the structure represents one of the elect individuals of which there are millions upon millions in America. As yet each stone is an inert, dormant thing and it is not until it contacts the presence above that it becomes a LIVING STONE.

While it is in its dormant state, each stone in the Grand Structure has six sides; the soul is imprisoned, asleep within these six walls. Now the moment the soul begins to stir itself and

The pyramid is formed out of a number of triangles pointing upward. The triangle stands for Unity, Equality, Trinity of Divinity. It is the perfect, all-sufficient symbol. The inverted (upside down) triangle is the sign of negation, of evil—the universal sign of the "Black Brotherhood." Black orders are readily recognized by this sign. The six-pointed star is formed from the two triangles. It is the combination of the negative and positive. Those who use this for their symbol are held vice-like between two opposing forces. They are unable to move in either direction.

consciously contact the Presence Above—the I AM PRESENCE—it begins to expand and unfold until it is of full stature—until it is a great living stone.

You will note on the drawing how the six sides of the stone have unfolded under the expansion from within, and have formed a perfect cross, the symbol of Resurrection, Rebirth, New Life, Eternal Youth. The sleeping soul has risen to its completed, perfect state, surrounded by Divine Light, which is symbolized by the oval line enclosing the figure. Once the Soul has unfolded into the perfect cross it could no more go back to the limitations of the stone than the great oak could recede into the tiny acorn from whence it sprang.

Man of himself can do nothing other than accept that which the Ever Presence has for him. He can however prepare himself to receive the regenerating power from above; he can attune himself to the vibrations from the Divine and make of himself an instrument through which the spirit of new life can operate. When man does this he receives and accepts all there is which extends from everlasting to everlasting. He becomes one with the Divine and the Divine works through him in the world of matter. The powerful workings of Deity are through man—for man.

We now see how the inert stones forming the 13 layers of the pyramid may become Living Stones, expand and unfold, filling the vacant space and becoming part of the perfect, living structure.

What a glorious structure we now have! The picture shows how it appears after the individual stones of humanity have been united with Divinity revealing a completed masterpiece—"four square" that is filled with Light, Life, Joy, Peace, Power, Perfection. It is the ultimate in faultless beauty. It stands seamless,

The thirteen courses of masonry of the pyramid shown on the reverse side of the Great Seal of the United States are made up of many stones. These "unconscious" stones are now beginning to stir themselves—to awaken and unfold. They will soon become "upright, living stones." Through their "expansion" they fill in the space between 13th layer of the pyramid and the ALL-SEEING, ALL-KNOWING, ALL-POWERFUL, EVER-PRESENT Apex and become One with it.

without a blemish, a triumphant symbol of Divine intention, a mighty perfected monument erected "without the sound of hammer".

Considering the stones of which the pyramid is built as symbols of the individuals of which our nation consists we may also regard the 13 layers as symbolical of the 13 steps of man's progress to ultimate perfection.

The first layer is symbolical of beginning. This is the selfish phase of man's life in which he is concerned only with his own well being in a material way. His spiritual side is undeveloped and he lacks vision and understanding.

From his low beginning man progresses upward through the various layers, gradually gaining experience and wisdom, subjugating the baser elements of his nature. His first real development comes when he arrives at the eleventh tier.

When he enters the eleventh course man is getting very close to the ultimate layer of masonry; in this period many great and wonderful changes occur. The 11 is the number of the unselfish server who receives, unsought, his merited reward. Joseph, the eleventh son of Jacob was of great service to Egypt and received high reward for his service. Men in this state also seek to serve and are justly rewarded.

Man passes through the twelfth period and finally enters the thirteenth—the ultimate course of the structure. Through all the preceding courses he has been gradually growing, expanding, preparing himself for the glorious state in which he now finds himself. He has left all the trouble and strife and turmoil of the world behind and has become one with the Universal, the All-Powerful, the All-Seeing-Eye; with Divinity itself. He has "overcome death" and triumphed over the physical. His state is now one of eternal, everlasting Glory and Perfection. He has indeed become a LIVING STONE, a part of the completed, perfect structure.

For nearly six thousand years humanity has been loitering along. Of course it has been making progress; but at the rate it has been traveling toward perfection it would take another million years to show appreciable results. All that humanity would accomplish in that vast expanse of time can and must be accomplished in a very brief period; less than "ten seconds". Why should mankind suffer along any longer, why not bring the orgy to a climax?

Let those who choose to go down do so—let all those who sincerely desire to ascend do so. As we have said before, all this in an individual matter, each one must decide NOW the path he will choose.

X

The destiny of our nation has been spoken of previously in this work. We know that the United States has been promised wonderful things. Its connection with the Divine promises of old has been mentioned. We have also learned of our membership in the house of Israel and our kinship to

Keeping America Out of War

Great Britain through the tribes of Ephraim and Manasseh. The people of these nations are the most blest of all the tribes of man. In view of the auspicious circumstances surrounding us we may naturally assume that we are well along on the road to the New Age.

The nations of Europe—Great Britain to a lesser extent—must still go through much cleansing and atonement before they can expect to enter into the enjoyment of the New Dispensation.

The Great Pyramid tells us that a union of church and state would take place before the beginning of the New Day; the date given was December 5, 1935. You may say no such union has as yet taken place in America, but though it is not yet evident to any but a few of the informed, just such a thing did occur.

Great Britain has had a government of church and state for centuries but the new union which took place last year is different from those of the past. The church-state governments of the past have been physical unions of two organizations. The New Church-State is a union of spirit.

When the United States became a theocracy there was no evident amalgamation of church organization with that of the government, both seemed to remain just as they had always been. However the change was not in the organizations but in the individuals. At that time (December 5, 1935) the true Christianity entered through the hearts of men into the government. This change of course is by no means complete. There is still much evil in both the old-time church and old-time government which must be eliminated before the New Church-State can attain perfection. It is for the individual to bring this perfection about by transforming his own life by abolishing all that is unworthy and evil; then we may expect to see a Perfect government and a Perfect State combined and functioning for the good of all and the greater glory of our nation. Then we need have no fear that our nation must endure the times of strife and bloodshed through which the less blessed nations must pass.

We are not only interested in keeping America out of war so that none of us will get hurt—we are also interested in seeing that we are not the cause of doing great injury to others and incidentally adding much evil Karma to us and our nation. America is a powerful nation in every conceivable way and once the whole nation enters with almost fanatical zeal into a great war our resources and uncanny ingenuity would be able to clear whole continents of every living thing. There are inventions and discoveries in America today that have never been allowed to escape from the brain of the inventor, so deadly and destructive are they.

These destructive, annihilating plans and inventions are held in secret against the day they may be needed.

They are stored away in the brains of great scientists and we are glad to say that these devastating discoveries need never see the light of day if you and I do our part, first by ourselves, then by our nation.

Greed, hatred and selfishness are the causes of war. The elimination of greed, hate and selfishness from the individual makes him a very powerful instrument through which Universal Force can flow and annihilate the lust of war.

War vibrations are low and lurid and can actually be eliminated every time we clothe ourselves in an aura of dazzling white light emanating from the heart (love) area. See these starting right in the center of the heart as a white light which fills the body. As the white light reaches the surface of the body see it turn into golden light. This surrounds the body on all sides, above and below, for about 3 feet beyond this the golden light turns again into dazzling white light for several feet in all directions. You are now surrounded by a protecting shield or armour against which the forces of hatred, revenge and war flee in confusion. After you construct your armour of light fill your body from below your feet and around about it with a dazzling blue (violet) light. This is marvelous for burning up within you all negativeness which would lead you into war. You now are protected from the forces which attack from without and from within. All this need not take over five minutes, though you may do it for as long as two hours—many are doing this very thing with amazing results. You are now ready to send a powerful shaft of white light from your heart forward into the heart of those who are afflicted by the illusions of war thus helping to protect them and reclaim them for the White Forces.

To make this shaft of light powerful and impersonal (that is, not something you said personally) see it come down from the heavens above, through you to your heart, then straight forward to its destination. So many are doing this that an Invisible Force of Peace and Good is flooding America like tens of thousands of brilliant search lights—leaving confusion and chaos in the ranks of evil. Five or ten minutes of the cleansing, purifying Fire twice a day will practically make war impossible for America. After you use it for America why not use it also for Great Britain and other nations and people in which you may have an interest? This method can be very powerful in destroying the desire for war in those nations who might be inclined to attack the United States, thus making doubly sure that our nation will not be plunged into war.

▲ FINALE

We have covered considerable territory between the covers of this volume. Most of the space has been devoted to those subjects of major importance, the less consequential subjects have been touched on lightly. There was no intention to make this a text book nor an exhaustive academic treatise; its sole purpose is to convey a message of value to those who are concerned with their own advancement and improvement.

When all of the "dormant stones" in the Great Structure become alive through conscious union with the Infinite Apex Stone, the entire edifice becomes a Living Monument of Unity, Harmony, Beauty, Perfection. It is a Perfect City, elevated above all worldly things, four-square, without blemish—sending forth from within the Divine Light of Eternal Spirit.

The events of the immediate future are of surpassing importance to every human being, that he may prepare himself for the changes which are occurring so rapidly. The period covered by this work from 1936 to 1953, is one of the most important eras, perhaps the most important era, in the history of the world. The zenith is rapidly being reached, events are moving along at a dizzy pace—men and affairs are shifting, changing, realigning so fast that only the well fortified individual will be able to keep an even balance and move on with the swift-flowing tide.

We are most fortunate to be living in this marvelous age which is unfolding before us. Opportunities for attainments are now present which have never before been within the reach of man. Your destiny is great, happy are you if you are working with Destiny! The greatest promises prophecy have been made to you. Do you know that five sixths of the promises of old were made to the tribes of Israel? The greatest of all the promises were made to the two tribes of Joseph; Ephraim which is represented today in Great Britain, and Manasseh which is preponderant in the United States. Now is the time in which you must prepare yourself to receive the wonderful things which are in store. How great shall be your joy if you have adjusted yourself to the new order and joined in the onward, upward march to ultimate perfection!

Don't worry about what is going to happen after you have crossed the King's Chamber and have reached the far wall. Years before you reach the other side in 1953 you will know exactly what the future then holds for you and what you must do to realize the most from it. The mystics tell us that things which are to come in the unrevealed future will be so glorious that to know of them now could only make your present circumstances less bearable and might even retard your progress toward that ideal time.

Now is the time to start transforming your life into the perfect condition it may attain. Stop your destructive imaginings in which you see yourself as poor and weak, unhappy and futile. Start at once

No matter how old you may be, your brain is never more than two years old. Every two years all the tissues and cells of the brain are replaced by new ones. You are never too old to expand your mind. The new dispensation is a mental age. Just as Pre-Flood men were intellectual giants so will men of the New Age be highly advanced mentally. Now, at the beginning of the New Day, is the time to start becoming the wonderful being you are inspired and destined to be.

and picture to yourself just the kind of person you would like to be. See yourself the perfect person in all the five departments of your life—a replica of the Divine Pattern. At first these pictures of you in your perfect state will be hazy but they will soon become clearer and before long you will see yourself as the embodiment of all your hopes and dreams.

Once you have a clear picture of your perfect self you will be able to rapidly transform into that radiant personage whose image you have conceived. You will find yourself in an utterly new environment. If you are weak in body, lacking in substance, lonely, sad or disillusioned, you will find yourself filled with vigor, surrounded by plenty, happy and carefree, radiating Light and Love throughout your entire sphere of life.

Like the Children of Israel who wandered for years through the wilderness to enter at last the promised land, so you have been wandering amidst darkness, doubt and despair. You are now about to enter the promised land—the land—the day of light and perfection. How great should be your joy! With what zeal should you prepare yourself to fully enjoy the blessings of the new day when all the promises of old will be fulfilled. All the hardship and weariness, all the struggle and heart-breaking disappointment of the past will be forgotten in the supreme happiness of the time when you see the realization of the hopes and prayers of centuries. Joyously, enthusiastically prepare yourself for that golden day whose dawn is now breaking on the horizon.

The auspicious conditions prevailing at the beginning of the New Age are very capably set forth by Worth Smith in his book "THE MIRACLE OF THE AGES" from which we quote:

"On September 16, 1936, when humanity emerges from beneath the Last Low Passage into the King's Chamber, Alpha Draconis, the 'Evil One' of the heavens, will again be on the meridian line below the Pole Star, just as in B. C. 2144; but with this happy and very important difference prevailing this time. The 'Evil One' at this coming visitation will be seven times lower down on the horizon than before. Evil will be seven times descended, indicating positively the certain, complete dethronement of Satan to be imminent! And the reason therefore, as written in the glittering constellations, just as in the Bible and Great Pyramid in other languages, is this; At that same date, very near now, fair Aries, the Ram, appears on the meridian line above at the place that was formerly occupied by Alpha Draconis ('The Evil Star'), the line passing exactly between the horns of the Ram on the night stated. Now a Ram of course is a Lamb grown to full maturity. Thus will 'the forget-me-nots of the heavens' on the hallowed night of September 16, 1936, reveal to watchful men that the Lamb of God has developed into the Mighty Ram which is the Prince of the Flock of God. Beginning at that date the matured Lamb takes unto Himself 'His great power and glory' after having overcome the Dragon."

Now while we are still in the Low Passageway of time, is the time to start doing things on the higher plane. Like the embryo butterfly wrapped up in his cocoon, you are bound by darkness and restrictions but you are awake; therefore start at once to free yourself from the bondage of this "evil world", before long you will be free, soaring on gorgeous wings high above the turmoil of the world, up—up into the glorious sunlight.

IMPORTANT It would greatly please the author to have the readers of this manuscript write him their personal questions and problems. However, it would be physically and financially impossible to answer the avalanche of letters which would be received. The author speaks from past experience in this matter.

Of course letters of comment and constructive criticism will be welcomed, but to attempt to answer letters containing miscellaneous questions would be an utter impossibility in spite of the author's personal inclination.

If you are traveling on the Upward Path you may be assured that sufficient light will always precede you to guide you on your way and reveal the things which you must do to insure your continuous progress.
